2010 WOMAC chosen charity

For 2010, WOMAC has pledged its support to the Samantha Dickson Brain Tumour Trust. This charity was registered to parents, Neil and Angela, in December 1996. Samantha died of a brain tumour on 31 October 1996, just six days before her 17th birthday. Since 1996, the Trust has become the largest brain tumour charity in the UK with the highest level of laboratory based childhood and adult brain tumour research in the country. The Trust offers support to patients diagnosed with a brain tumour as well as their families and carers. For more information please visit <http://braintumourtrust.co.uk>

Introducing WOMAC

WOMAC (Women On the Move Against Cancer) is made up of volunteers, all working in the motor industry, who raise money every year for cancer charities. We rely on the generosity of our friends to donate money or prizes for the tombola and raffle, and to help cover our costs. Since WOMAC was created in 1979, we have supported a wide variety of projects, searching for more effective treatments for cancer or improving the quality of life for sufferers, their families and carers. Over this time, we have donated more than £725,000 to cancer-related projects and charities.
